

A : Findings

➤ Vedic Pundit respondents

- All the 10 respondents cite the following by way of justification of the relevance of Vedic General Management Principles to the present day global business.
- All the 10 respondents cite the commonality between the Veda's and Modern Business Management Principles: Vedic Management Principles recommend adoption of good practices from everywhere as long as they are oriented towards the welfare of the individual, society and they suggest learning from global best practices.

- All the 10 respondents cite the way of justification of the statement that the Veda's attach the same degree of importance to financial management, knowledge management and human resource management as the present day business management practices.
- They state that incentives and rewards system should be in place.
- Vedic Management Principles advice that cultural diversity be respected and coexistence be ensured.