

➤ Researcher Recommends: (contd..)

- The management profession with the help of government and academics, unearth the various other management principles which the Veda's have to offer.
- The curriculum that business schools prescribe should ensure that managers are given due importance.
- According to Veda's, change management need not be looked up on cynically by any of the stake holders.

➤ Researcher Recommends: (contd..)

- Vedic Principles state that HRM and Knowledge management should be taken seriously by the present day management leaders.
- Vedic management principles strongly advice businesses and their executives against foraying into areas where their core competence is inadequate.
- Managers should acquire a quarter of the knowledge of management from the teacher, another quarter from experience, yet another from colleagues and friends and last quarter through living and working.