

4. Vedic General Management Principles

- On the basis of primary data collected, a Chi Square test was applied to ascertain the association if any between the variables.
- It was ascertained that there is no association between present-day global business and the relevance of Vedic general management principles to the present-day global business.

Vedic management principles are based on Individual, Social, National and Universal Principles

