

➤ Researcher Recommends: (contd..)

- Vedic Principles state that HRM and Knowledge management should be taken seriously by the present day management leaders.
- Vedic management principles strongly advice businesses and their executives against foraying into areas where their core competence is inadequate.
- Managers should acquire a quarter of the knowledge of management from the teacher, another quarter from experience, yet another from colleagues and friends and last quarter through living and working.

➤ Researcher Recommends: (contd..)

➤ Managers should realize that becoming workaholics, they are becoming wise to the penny and foolish to the pound, hence they should take the middle ground.

➤ A stress free manager is a boon to the organization.